A MEMBER OF

THE LEADING HOTELS
OF THE WORLD

It all began with a passionate dream to open a hotel perched high along the breathtaking hills of the Amalfi Coast. This fervent dream combined with love, devotion and hard work resulted in the opening of the historic five-star hotel, Palazzo Sasso, in 1997. An instant success, this property became renowned for its stunning views, exceptional hospitality and one-star Michelin restaurant. Now the Amalfi Coast's prized jewel shines even more proudly bearing the name of its founding family. Palazzo Sasso has become Palazzo Avino.

Palazzo Avino is set on the Amalfi Coast, south of Naples, with spectacular views over the Mediterranean sea. Ravello itself being a charming little town, boldly laid out on a steep hillside. The glorious surroundings of brilliant blue sea, a profusion of flowers, and pastel-painted houses offer visitors a peaceful haven from a busy world. Originally a 12th Century villa built for an esteemed Italian noble family, the property has been tastefully refurbished to the highest standards while retaining its medieval and baroque features. The hotel has been recognised internationally with prestigious awards for its commitment to the very best in service and hospitality. It has been recognized by both Travel & Leisure and Condé Nast Traveler magazines as one of the best hotels in the world.

The hotel boasts a new private beach club (Clubhouse By the Sea), offering full sea access, with a casual restaurant and a small swimming pool.
